

TransCen-ing to Work-Based Learning

The Work-Based Learning (WBL) Project (<https://cdd.tamu.edu/wbl-project/>), a program with the Center on Disability and Development at Texas A&M University, is sponsoring a Zoom training on WBL models.

Dale Verstegen

TransCen's Dale Verstegen, and Sean Roy, will introduce the various WBL models, go over the benefits of each, and how to develop a model at your school or expand your school's current WBL model(s) that lead to employment outcomes for your students. Each session will include ample time for discussion.

Join us for one or all three sessions.

Each session will be geared for a different level of Work-Based Learning experience.

Session One - October 26, 2021

9 a.m. to 10:30 a.m.

For schools with extensive WBL experience (e.g., several years and currently run more than one model), and want to hear ideas on how to move to the next level or expand beyond what they currently offer.
